

A proposal for overlapping claims

If China made claims based on larger islands only, it would open the way for joint development of these overlapping areas with other countries without ceding sovereignty.

