Diplomacy and International Law: A Singaporean Perspective

The CIL Fireside Chat Series on International Law and Diplomacy provides a rare opportunity to learn about and discuss important issues with experts who have been at the forefront of international affairs. Each Session will be hosted by Professor S Jayakumar and/or Professor Tommy Koh, two of Singapore's renowned diplomats. Five initial sessions have been scheduled in 2012, which will focus on the interplay between international law and diplomacy in Singapore's foreign policy.

For more information on the CIL Fireside Chat Series, please see <http://www.cil.nus.edu.sg>.

Professor S Jayakumar will kick off the inaugural 'chat' in the series by sharing his perspective of how Singapore, as a small state, has used both international law and diplomacy to further its interests. Drawing from his experience as an academic, international lawyer and diplomat, which have been captured in his book "Diplomacy: A Singapore Experience," he will discuss selected issues and events he was involved in as Singapore's Minister for Foreign Affairs and as its Permanent Representative to the United Nations. Professor Tommy Koh will host and moderate the session.

Note: The Chatham House Rule applies for the CIL Fireside Chat Series.
