

NUS CENTRE FOR INTERNATIONAL LAW SERIES

The NUS Centre for International Law series aims to provide critical analysis on issues of international law relevant to the region, including ocean law and policy, ASEAN law and policy, international economic law and international dispute resolution. The series will examine international law issues from a legal, political and policy perspective, and will serve as a valuable reference for international and regional organizations, government officials, scholars and practitioners. More information about CIL can be found at www.cil.nus.edu.sg.

PIRACY AND INTERNATIONAL MARITIME CRIMES IN ASEAN

Prospects for Cooperation

Edited by Robert C. Beckman, National University of Singapore and J. Ashley Roach, U.S. Department of State (retired)

'I can confidently say that this is the best book on the legal dimension of the problem of piracy in general, and of piracy in Southeast Asia and off the coast of Somalia in particular, and what we can do about it. Robert Beckman and Ashley Roach are two of the finest minds working in international law today. They have brought their knowledge and sharp analytical skills to edit a book of great relevance to the world's shipping industry, IMO, ASEAN and international lawyers and law enforcement agencies.'

– Tommy Koh, President, Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea
