

INTERNATIONAL INVESTMENT COURT PROPOSALS

Developing Effective Policy for Bilateral and Multilateral Negotiations

Dafina Atanasova

Research Fellow, Centre for International Law

National University of Singapore

19 January 2018

CIL

CENTRE FOR INTERNATIONAL LAW
National University of Singapore

Developing Effective Policy: Roadmap

1. Which government body(ies) will be responsible for developing policy and for subsequent negotiations?
2. What skill set is necessary for policy development and for negotiation?
3. How to integrate any form of investment court system into an existing portfolio of investment treaties?

Identifying the Responsible Agency and other Stakeholders

In your country:

1. Which body will be responsible for developing policy on investment court proposals?
2. Which body will be responsible for negotiating on investment court proposals?
3. Will other bodies will participate in these processes?
4. Who are the stakeholders likely most interested in investment court proposals?

Identifying the Necessary Skill Set for Effective Policy-making

1. What types of knowledge will be necessary in order to appreciate the implications of an investment court proposal?
2. Does this differ from the knowledge required for 'classic' investor-state and commercial arbitration issues?
3. Are there additional considerations depending upon the forum of negotiation (bilateral v. multilateral)?

Integrating The Investment Court in an Existing Investment Treaty Portfolio

1. The investment court system and dispute settlement mechanisms in earlier treaties with other countries which have adopted/will adopt the court system.
2. The investment court system and dispute settlement mechanisms in treaties with countries which have not adopted the court system.
3. The investment court system and treaty shopping.

INTERNATIONAL INVESTMENT COURT PROPOSALS: THE END

Thank you!