Nice to meet you!

I am Jiang Zhifeng, a double degree law student at Yale-NUS College and the National University of Singapore (NUS), Faculty of Law. Apart from international law, I have deep academic interests in many other fields, including developmental economics, international history, geopolitics, and philosophy. I am always excited about cutting-edge intellectual ideas. I have participated in a number of public international law moots in the areas of international environmental law, international space law, and international investment law. As I enjoy engaging in academic conversations and collaborations with like-minded individuals, feel free to reach out anytime!
