US-ASEAN Cyber and Digital Dialogue: February Session 2023
Emerging Tech: Implications for Cybersecurity
Monday February 13th 7:00 PM EST | Tuesday February 14th 8:00 AM SGT

Session Speakers:

- John Bansemer, Director of the CyberAI Project & Senior Fellow at the Center for Security and Emerging Technology (CSET), Georgetown University
- Simon Chesterman, David Marshall Professor and Vice Provost/Dean (Educational Innovation) at NUS, Senior Director of AI Governance at AI Singapore, Editor of the Asian Journal of International Law, and Co-President of the Law Schools Global League.

The next session of the Global Cyber Dialogue will be held on February 13th 7:00 PM EST/February 14th 8:00 AM SGT. The Dialogue will be held via Zoom. The session will cover Emerging Tech and its implications for cyber security. Emerging tech has major implications on the future of cybersecurity with new technologies presenting new challenges and opportunities for cybersecurity. Although both our speakers are focused on AI, this does not mean that the session will only cover AI. We encourage participants to bring up any questions or any relevant conversation topic surrounding emerging tech issues. We will include both public and private sector participants to discuss the role of emerging tech on cybersecurity.

The opening speaker remarks will be recorded but it will feature an off the record discussion that will not be recorded to allow participants to speak freely and provide their insights under Chatham House Rules.
