ASEAN Law and Policy Academy Flagship Programme 29 July – 5 August 2024

After three years in an online format, the ASEAN Law and Policy Academy returns to an in-person format in its sixth edition, conducted at the National University of Singapore (NUS) Bukit Timah Campus from 29 July – 5 August 2024.

A flagship programme of Centre for International Law (CIL) at NUS, the Academy is a cross-disciplinary master's level intensive programme for policymakers, practitioners, and academics working in the fields of politics and governance, economics, and law. It is founded on twelve years of research at CIL on ASEAN legal integration and institution building, including the ASEAN Integration Through Law book series published by Cambridge University Press.

Co-directed by Professor Joseph Weiler (New York University (NYU), NUS) and Dr Tan Hsien-Li (NUS), the modules are created and taught by an international faculty of experts from practice and academia and provides participants with a deeper understanding of ASEAN institutions and key developments in ASEAN's economic integration, foreign affairs and legal framework.

The Academy features a revamped syllabus that discusses ASEAN's responses to global issues and contemporary geopolitical shifts. Hence, while the core syllabus of ASEAN's rules-based integration emphasising the importance of legal and institutional frameworks remains, new modules on the ASEAN Economic Community, digital trade, international dispute resolution, law of the sea, climate change, and more are included.

Changemaker Programme (5 days, 29 July – 2 August 2024)

This Programme is designed for policymakers in governments and regional institutions of Southeast Asia and partner countries, as well as practitioners in the private sector and civil society. The Academy enables Changemakers to keep abreast of ASEAN developments, engage in specialised content and practicums on key topics and interact with influential ASEAN researchers and educators. The Changemaker Programme is taught over 5 days between 29 July – 2 August 2024, and is offered in-person only. See the Programme details at page 5.

Educator Programme (6 days, 29 July – 5 August 2024)

This Programme is for tertiary educators and/or researchers teaching and researching issues related to any aspect of ASEAN integration. The Academy's Educator Programme has received acclaim from senior faculty as well as aspiring academics, especially those from the faculties of economics, law, and political science. The Educator Programme comprises the main taught programme from Days 1-5, a half-day workshop on academic publishing and pedagogy, concluding with a full-day academic conference. Presentation at the conference is compulsory for participation in this Programme. Educator Programme participants have the option of in-person or online modalities. See the Programme details at page 5.

All Educator participants must submit a short abstract (max 500 words) of the unpublished paper/work-in-progress they wish to present. Please click here to view the Call for Papers. The deadline for submission of extracts has been extended to 29 June 2024.

Selection of Specialisations

For greater in-depth training in their area of interest, Academy participants (for both the Changemaker and Educator Programmes) are split into subject specialisations on days 3 and 4 of the Programme.

Three Specialisations are offered in 2024:

(1) The ASEAN Economic Community

- ASEAN Trade and the Indo-Pacific, Ms Elizabeth Chelliah
- Evaluating ASEAN's Economic Scorecard, Dr Julia Tijaja
- Beyond ASEAN: The New Economic Agreements, Prof Pasha Hsieh

(2) ASEAN and Foreign Relations

- ASEAN External Relations, Mr Jason Tan
- ASEAN and the South China Sea, Dr Nguyen Thanh Trung
- ASEAN and The High Seas Treaty – Agreement on Biodiversity Beyond National Jurisdiction (BBNJ), Ambassador Rena Lee
- ASEAN Digital Economic Framework Agreement/Digital Trade, Dr Ming Tan

(3) ASEAN Investment Law, Prof Jürgen Kurtz

- An in-depth module examining regional law and governance in ASEAN through the lens of its unique foreign investment regime. This module includes a hands-on practicum on Investor-State Dispute Settlement in the ASEAN context.

For in-person attendees, spaces in each Specialisation are limited. The organisers will endeavor to allocate to applicants their first choice Specialisation.

Programme

The main lecture series for the Changemaker and Full Educator Programmes runs from 29 July – 2 August 2024. Lectures and seminars will be conducted primarily at NUS Bukit Timah Campus. On the importance of ASEAN

“Unlike the protectionist trend elsewhere, ASEAN remains committed to free trade, regional integration and open economies...RCEP (The Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership of ASEAN and six other economies) will be one of the biggest free trade areas in the world.” - Ambassador Tommy Koh, Chairman of the CIL International Advisory Panel and Ambassador-at-Large at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs Singapore

“I have witnessed how the interests and concerns of Member States are amplified internationally when ASEAN speaks with one voice. ASEAN is also capable of summoning a spirit of unity which is unparalleled. Even when faced with the thorniest of issues, leaders and officials work tirelessly to find common ground, and achieve agreement by consensus. This is not a trivial undertaking, given the diversity of the region we sit in.” - Dr Vivian Balakrishnan, Minister for Foreign Affairs of Singapore

“ASEAN itself manifests what could be achieved – with the requisite political will and diplomatic persistence – to fundamentally transform a region from one marked by conflict and trust deficit to one of stability and strategic trust.” - Dr Marty Natalegawa, Foreign Minister of Indonesia (2009-14) and author of Does ASEAN Matter? A view from within (2018)

Feedback from participants of the ASEAN Law Academy Advanced Programme

“I've acquired understanding about our region and international public law which I'd not been familiar with before the program. From the perspective of a practitioner, I found the program very interesting, I learned a lot not only from the professors of NUS but also my colleagues, the participants.”

“The Academy provided me not only precious knowledge on ASEAN Law but also networking of ASEAN scholars in this field. I am revising my teaching curriculum on International Trade Law with a focus on ASEAN perspective based on what I have learned from the Academy.”

“As I venture forth into a career which deals with the ASEAN region, I can guarantee that the scholarship slot given to me will not go to waste. Please extend my thanks to everyone in NUS who has been instrumental in holding this informative and inspiring endeavour.”
