Why attend this Webinar

With more than 45,000 people attending, and multiple events and discussions taking place at COP30 in Belém, digesting and understanding the implications of these decisions can be challenging for different stakeholders based in different regions of the world.

That is why Durham University's Centre for Sustainable Development Law and Policy (CSDLP) and the National University of Singapore's Centre for International Law (CIL) are hosting a webinar this March: The Road Ahead for Global Climate Action Post-COP30: A Cross-Regional Perspective.

Moderator and Panellists

Atty. Analiza Rebuelta-Teh, Undersecretary for Finance, Information System and Climate Change, Department of Environment and Natural Resources, Philippines

Ambassador Francois Jackman, Ambassador and Permanent Representative of Barbados to the United Nations

Prof Elisa Morgera, UN Special Rapporteur on Climate Change & Human Rights, Office of the High Commissioner Human Rights (OHCHR)

Caroline Aguti, Assistant Commissioner Health, Safety and Environment, Ministry of Energy and Mineral Development, Uganda

Prof Petra Minnerop, Professor of International Law, Director of the Centre for Sustainable Development Law and Policy, Durham University

Chair Dato' Mohammad Faiz Azmi, Executive Chairman, Securities Commission Malaysia

Danielle Yeow, Adjunct Senior Research Fellow and Lead, Climate Change Law and Policy, Centre for International Law, National University of Singapore

This roundtable dialogue will:

- Examine the core outcomes of COP30 by drawing together speakers presenting different regional perspectives.
- Outline pathways for effective implementation of new mechanisms and plans to accelerate decarbonization solutions.
- Discuss regional priorities, as well as the challenges faced in addressing climate change amid complex geopolitical developments.
